CURIOUS GAGE HOLDS THIRD ANNUAL COUNTDOWN TO CANDY CONCERT

FORT COLLINS, CO— Local award-winning a cappella group Curious Gage will be holding an all ages free concert on Friday, October 24 at Saint John's Lutheran Church. The concert, titled Countdown to Candy, is the third annual Halloween concert hosted by the vocal group.

"We look forward to Countdown to Candy every year. It's a chance for us to have a little extra fun with the audience—in the past we've debuted short films or dressed up in Halloween costumes. This year will be just as entertaining, and it's a great opportunity to see Curious Gage perform for free!" says Carleen Widhalm, Curious Gage member since 2006.

About Countdown to Candy

About CURIOUS GAGE

Curious Gage, a five-member vocal band, is based out of Fort Collins, Colorado. As one of the only a cappella groups in Northern Colorado, Curious Gage blends pop and rock styles with vocal percussion to create a unique contemporary sound. The group has enjoyed national a cappella recognition and local acclaim since winning the Harmony Sweepstakes Rocky Mountain Regional competition in 2006. Other achievements include The "Deke Sharon" Best Original Arrangement award in 2004, The "Wes Carroll" Best Vocal Percussionist award in 2006, and most recently, The "Jeffery Harris" Best Original Song award in March of 2008. After five years of singing, Curious Gage still continues to spread its love of vocal harmony across the Front Range.
